Messrs. Galbreath and Brown, merchants from Diaz Colony, Mexico, were in town this week, buying very largely from Lindauer, Wormser & Co. and Louis Altman.

In answer to the advertisements in the Headlight and Stock Grower offering cattle for sale, S. Lindauer has received twenty inquiries from feeders in Kansas, and will no doubt effect a sale at good prices.

The opera house is already being put in shape for the musical show of the 14th of February. The Band B. boys are making preparations on an extensive scale, and propose to outdo themselves this time.

County Commissioner John H. Bragaw, one of the leading merchants of Grant county, was in town this week on official business. While here he bought quite a stock of merchandise from our wholesale merchants.

Albert Lindauer sold to the Corralitos company, of Chihuahua, Mexico, last week, 200 very fine high grade and thorough bred Angora goats. They were the finest we have seen in this part of the country.

The Right Rev. J. M. Kendrick, D. D., Bishop of New Mexico and Arizona, is expected to make his visitation to St. Luke's Mission, Deming, on the 3rd Sunday in Feb'y, when he will administer the Apostolic Rite of Confirmation.

Considerable freight is now being shipped through Deming, of the description known as steamer freight, being consignments both ways, of ocean freight shipped from San Francisco to New Orleans and Galveston and the reverse.

The President of the United States, at the special instance of the Senators of New Mexico, who had heard through Henry M. Stanley concerning the performance of our B. and B. Combination, has sent out a special request to the management in Deming, to bring the boys on to Washington and he will have all the eminent people of Europe, as well as not a few from Asia and Africa, on the ground, to drink in the sweet sounds of music and merriment flowing in unstrained volume etc. etc. the balance being too flattery for publication. The boys have signified their acceptance, and as preliminary to departure, (and to cover the expense item), they will give an entertainment in the Opera House, on the night of February 14th (St. Valentine's). Save up your sickles and dimes.

A carload of tourists, snow blocked on the Central Pacific, passed through Deming by the ever open southern route, last Thursday. They had started east by the northern route and hurried back to California to seek an outlet this way. One of the advantages we enjoy.

Large shipments of copper bullion from the Clifton furnaces are passing through Deming, being shipped to New York. These shipments average about 50,000 pounds per day. Coke for Clifton is coming in too rapidly to be handled. It is accumulating both here and at Lordsburg.

In no part of the range country can eastern feeders and northern steer buyers find a better class of cattle than right here in Grant county. Our stockmen don't ask fancy prices, are willing to sell at market price, and invite buyers to visit this part of New Mexico before closing trades elsewhere.

Dell Cobb, of the Enterprise, was in town last Sunday and Monday. Five or six years ago, Dell was of quiet, modest demeanor—in fact almost too diffident for his own good—but he has been associating with Pink Leonard for the past year, and now he has more cheek than his brother Tom.

Lieut. Britton Davis, Supt. Corralitos camp returned from New York via City of Mexico, Thursday, and left for home Friday morning. Lieut. Davis has recently purchased from the Old and New Mexico Improvement company a number of Deming townlots, and expects soon to realize a handsome profit on his investment. In conversation with our reporter he stated that this company expect hereafter to ship from 300 to 500 tons of ore per month to Deming, and as soon as the D. S. M. & P. railroad is completed will ship ten times as much.

There is nothing requiring so little capital to begin with as public sampling works, nor that benefits a community as much. Such works started here would bring ore buyers from everywhere. Money would be paid to miners and a good portion of it would go to our local business men. One of the principal mine owners of this vicinity states that the present mode of disposing of ores is very unsatisfactory. That he had to be satisfied with whatever returns were made by the smelter, and while he had no doubt that he was well treated he would rather pay $25 to have a car of ore sampled than depend entirely upon the honesty of the smelter. Why not organize a local company? We have it from good authority that enough ore would be guaranteed to more than pay expenses, and that one of our principal ore shippers will take a good portion of the capital stock necessary to start the enterprise. Such works would in no way interfere with a smelter—in fact would be a help, as miners would rather ship ore to a town where they can satisfy themselves of the value of their ore before having it worked in the smelter. What say our business men to this?

IN TOKEN OF RESPECT.
In view of the death of Judge Warren Bristol, the committee of management, St. Luke's Episcopal Parish, Deming, (of which the Judge was chairman), deem it fitting that public expression should be made of the esteem in which our associate was held and of the respect we entertain for his memory.

He was a broad and liberal Christian, manifesting piety without ostentation, and the true spirit of charity, which is a satisfying reward unto itself. A man of rigid integrity, fair in all dealings with his fellow men, and ever ready to respond to meritorious appeals for help.

His clear judgment and sound counsel were of the highest value in the conduct of church affairs, and his demise leaves a vacancy in this connection which cannot readily be filled.

He died at his residence, 212 N. M. Jan. 23, 1903.
R. B. WASHINGTON, Jr., Sec'y.

LITIGAL.
What "Quarts" Thinks of the Situation.
Georgetown, Jan. 20th.

Editor of the Headlight:
Before those Enterprise chaps get the whole Democratic ticket nominated, I think some of our own party ought to say a word or two. The trouble is about candidates going around and getting men pledged. Now, I hope Democrats will not make promises to anybody in advance. I am an old-timer and a Democrat and I want to see a strong ticket. There are two or three men who would help the ticket, others might hurt it. As the Enterprise and the Scout, too, are making nominations, I think an old Democrat like me has just as much right, and I have thought what is best for the party.

Sam Carpenter would make a good sheriff, and I am for Judge Bennett for Probate Clerk. He has always been a straight Democrat. I was glad to hear a sound Republican say the other day that he would support Judge Bennett against anybody in the county. Sam Carpenter is strong, and the party could unite on him. And then that young lawyer Harlee in Silver City, would be a good candidate for Probate Judge. He is fair, and he knows the law. I know there are all good men, and I hope you will find room in your paper for this letter.

THE RAILROAD.
A MEETING OF EARNST MEN.
Positive Assurance of Early Construction.

Mr. Louis Huller, accompanied by his attorney, Judge Masterson, arrived in Deming from the City of Mexico, on Monday night's delayed train. A number of our citizens were at the depot to meet Mr. Huller, and had it not been for the lateness of the hour, the crowd would have been much larger.

On Tuesday, the propriety of taking public action as showing Deming's esteem for and confidence in Mr. Huller was very generally discussed, and the propriety thereof being generally recognized, an impromptu meeting was called about five o'clock in the evening, at the parlors of the First National Bank. Notwithstanding the brief notice given, nearly all our representative men were present, and we noticed in the crowd quite a number from other portions of the county, including Sheriff Whitehill, Probate Clerk Morehead and District Attorney Ancheta.

The meeting was called to order by Charles H. Dane, ex-Governor Ross was unanimously chosen chairman, with Louis Altman as secretary.

Judge Masterson being called upon, made an interesting speech setting forth the situation and explaining the causes of delay in building. There had been some misunderstandings, now happily to course of adjustment. Some of those interested, had been unable to comply with their contracts, and in consequence unexpected difficulties and delays had presented themselves. All, however, could be overcome. He and Mr. Huller had been to the City of Mexico, where the authorities and men of influence had shown them distinguished consideration. They had given Mr. Huller renewed assurance of their confidence and of the fact that he could have all reasonable extension of time on his concession. The result of their trip had been in all respects gratifying.

Mr. Huller then frankly explained his situation, purposes and prospects. He and his counsel would start on the morning for Lima, Ohio, where he hoped to have a conference with Major Sisson and Mr. Farout. He had positive assurance from German bankers that the entire $400,000,000 required for the construction of this system could be secured. He was going to Europe to conclude this arrangement, but whether that succeeded or failed he was ready to pledge and here would pledge his word of honor that, "within six months a first-class railroad coach should run out of Deming for Palomas."

He stated that El Paso was very anxious to secure this line. Parties who claimed to speak upon authority had assured him, as he passed through, that the town would issue bonds to the amount of $200,000 in aid of the enterprise—but that the proposed connection was out of the question at present. The main line would undoubtedly run to Deming, and construction on the northern end would commence here.

While Mr. Huller was speaking, a telegram was handed him, which he read. It was from a prominent citizen of El Paso assuring him that the preliminary steps had been taken, and asking for a copy of his concession from the Mexican government. But he again stated emphatically that there could be no change. Deming would be the point of connection with the American system of railroads. Both Mr. Huller and Judge Masterson were frequently interrupted with applause.

Governor Ross then made a few pertinent remarks, referring earnestly to the bright prospects of Deming, and the great benefits which must flow from the early construction of this road. He was followed by Mr. S. Lindauer who expressed himself as highly gratified at the assurances given by Mr. Huller. Mr. L. had every reason to believe that certain German bankers were manifesting a very warm interest in the construction of this road.

C. H. Dane, President of the First National Bank, then submitted the following resolution, which was promptly seconded and unanimously adopted as expressing the sense of the meeting:

Resolved: That we, representing the people of Deming, in meeting assembled, do extend to Mr. Louis Huller and his associates our most hearty assurances of confidence and support. We have always entertained the belief that sooner or later he would triumph over all obstacles and push to completion the Santa Fe, Pinar and Chihuahua railroad and its connections; and that we hail his presence among us now, as a harbinger of the bright days of speedy construction and successful operation of the entire system.

After the adoption of the resolutions, Mr. Waring of the smelting company, being called upon, stated briefly that his people were thoroughly organized with capital subscribed and plans approved. That as soon as track-laying commenced on the railroad, work of construction would begin on the smelting plant. Changing to have with him a portion of the smelter plans Mr. Waring yielded to a general request and spread them upon the table. They were examined with much interest.

In the evening the McQuinn Band surrounded Mr. Huller at the residence of Judge Masterson. The two gentlemen started east on Wednesday's train.

The town was taken by storm, Tuesday night. The train from Silver City brought Commissioner Bragaw, Sheriff Whitehill, Clerk Morehead, Dist. Atty. Ancheta and Charley Bell, of the Scout—all to meet Commissioner Carpenter, who, although convalescent, could not as yet expose himself to the open air. The occasion was the opening of the jury lists for the next term of court, as also the canvassing by the Board of Commissioners, of the results of the recent elections in the different precincts. It was after this was all concluded, that the boys took the town. Some regret was expressed, that they didn't have Pink Leonard and Banta along, but, on the whole, they made a very good show.

The latest disease that is attributable to the gripe is scurvy.
